SECTION I: DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM

The Halmos College of Natural Sciences and Oceanography at Nova Southeastern University provides foundational study in core and emerging disciplines and technologies to prepare students for graduate and professional study, career development, and responsible citizenship. The College highly values our partnerships with the basic science/clinical researchers of MD Anderson Cancer Center.

At the MD Anderson Cancer Center, students are matched with a mentor from MD Anderson’s research or clinical faculty. Participants work alongside the mentor in a lab or clinic on projects designed by faculty to reflect current research. Workshops and lectures provide opportunities to connect with faculty, residents, postdoctoral and clinical fellows, and other participants. Through the program, students assess goals related to careers in oncology research and patient care. The program culminates with a symposium in which participants present talks and posters on their research projects to peers and faculty.

The Biology Student Internship Program is a unique collaboration between NSU and the MD Anderson Cancer Center, which allows for intercampus and institutional interaction in multiple medical disciplines whereby young scientists gain exposure, direction and guidance during their developing career paths. The benefits of this program are as follows:

- To foster intercampus and inter-institutional collaborative relationships on both a national and international level
- To educate and train young scientists
- To produce outcomes that will allow for successful acquisition of extramural support.

This collaborative venture with our partners will contribute to the leadership of all institutions in basic science and medical education and help to meet the needs of our national community through basic science and academic training, high-quality collaborative relationships and gaining the interest and exposure from future basic scientists/clinicians and the community.

Participant Eligibility. Any individual desiring to participate must have JUNIOR or SENIOR ranking and be a returning registered student for Fall 2020. Other criteria include: an overall GPA of 3.0 and a GPA of 3.0 in basic sciences. Candidates must submit an application inclusive of a written statement discussing the reason(s) why participation is desired, and an Official University Transcript of Grades or equivalent Capp report. Three letters of recommendation must also be included: 2 from basic science faculty, and 1 other. All application materials must be received by the Biology Student Internship Program Committee (BSIPC) no later than October 31, 2019. The timeline follows below.

BSIPC Role. The Biology Student Internship Program Committee (BSIPC) will qualify and rank candidates and select those who will be granted a face-to-face interview by the committee. Following the BSIPC interviews, up to eight finalists will be identified. Additional interviews of the finalists by the respective partner institutions either by phone or face-to-face may also take place.

Length & Location of Internship. There are up to two ten-week internship positions available for summer 2020 at the MD Anderson Cancer Center. In the event that the original internship Awardees to the internship, declines their internship or during their BIOL 4950 course changes his or her mind, one of the alternates may be selected to replace that Awardee.

Program Outline.

A. MD Anderson Cancer Center. The purpose of the Program is for student to gain experience in various research techniques. Activities during this program will include performing molecular biological experiments and possible animal studies, conduct molecular biology and model organism experiments, western blot and northern blot, operate laboratory apparatus and equipment, analyze experiments and tissue culture techniques. The intern’s primary responsibility includes conducting research on challenging basic research and clinical projects. Students learn lab safety practices and techniques for gathering, analyzing and presenting scientific data.

B. Course Credit. Awardees of internships will be required to register for a total of 3 credits of BIOL 4950 (Internship in Biology) at Nova Southeastern University between winter 2020 and summer 2020. The awardee must maintain a “daily journal”; write a summary paper and turn in all required assignments by July 2020. The paper will be critically reviewed and commented by the supervisors at NSU and graded by their assigned NSU Faculty Mentor for a final assignment of course grade.

The Awardee shall be required to give a presentation of their internship/research experience to faculty and students at Nova Southeastern University upon their return to campus in the fall of 2020.
